CHILDHOOD 2.0 PARENT NIGHT

It is imperative that trusted adults and caregivers recognize that childhood has drastically changed with the advent of the smartphone and other devices we hand our children. In addition, the massive stressors they face are different than we have experienced and the ways in which they interact are at times more aggressive and conflictual because of it.

Join us for an interactive presentation with Katey McPherson, Director Of Community Partnerships-Bark Technologies. Katey is a veteran public educator who has dedicated the second half of her career to the online protection, safety, and wellness of children.
